

unplugged gómez-peña

Combining spoken-word poetry, activist theory, radical storytelling and language experimentation, Guillermo Gómez-Peña offers critical and humorous commentary about the art world, academia, new technologies, the culture of war and violence in the United States, organized crime in Mexico, gender and race politics, and the latest wave of complications surrounding gentrification.

Mainstage Theatre CA 3043 | 7 pm
February 23, 2017 | Center For The Arts | Towson University

Combining spoken-word poetry, activist theory, radical storytelling and language experimentation, Guillermo Gómez-Peña offers critical and humorous commentary about the art world, academia, new technologies, the culture of war and violence in the United States, organized crime in Mexico, gender and race politics, and the latest wave of complications surrounding gentrification.

*Mainstage Theatre, CA 3043
Center For The Arts
Towson University
Thursday, February 23, 2017
7:00 PM
Unplugged*

GÓMEZ PEÑA UNPLUGGED

Combining spoken-word poetry, activist theory, radical storytelling and language experimentation, Guillermo Gómez-Peña offers critical and humorous commentary about the art world, academia, new technologies, the culture of war and violence in the United States, organized crime in Mexico, gender and race politics, and the latest wave of complications surrounding gentrification.

*Thursday Feb 23, 2017 7pm
Mainstage Theatre, CA 3043
Center For The Arts, Towson University*